Airport

The airport has a rive year plan for all major improvements. So far, things are going a fit faster than scheduled.

This summer, another $368,000 is being spent on building a new landing ramp and extending another ramp. An underground storm drain system is being constructed and the obsolute taxiway lights are being replaced,

More projects to be completed this summer include new perking facilities, sewer extension, security fence and aircraft run-up pads for preflight checks.

"This is going to be a first-class airport by the end of this year," Mathis said.
